

Become a Bletchley Park Volunteer!

Bletchley Park Trust is a charity. It receives no public funding and relies heavily on its team of dedicated volunteers. Public interest in the Park continues to grow and with it the workload! Many more volunteers are still needed.

Would you be interested in joining the team, playing your part in the future of Bletchley Park? By investing whatever time you can spare, you can help us to preserve this historic site for future generations.

We are keen to recruit volunteers in all areas of the museum on both weekdays and weekends.
